Art Unit: 1634

DETAILED ACTION

1. This application has been transferred from Ex. D. Cho to Ex. D. Johannsen. The application remains assigned to Art Unit 1634.

2. Claims 41, 43-44, 48, 51-52, 56 and 75 have been amended, claims 42, 45-47, 49-50, 53-55, and 57-74 have been cancelled, and claims 76-86 have been added.

Claims 41, 43-44, 48, 51-52, 56, and 75-86 are now under consideration.

3. Applicant prior election of Group I, and of SEQ ID NO: 5 (encompassing a fragment thereof, SEQ ID NO: 1), is acknowledged. Upon further consideration, a further restriction of Group I is required, as set forth below. In response to this action, applicant should elect either Group IA or Group IB for continued prosecution.

Election/Restrictions

4. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

IA. Claims 41, 43-44, 48, 51-52, 56, 75-84, and 86, drawn to nucleic acids, vectors, host cells, compositions, and kits, classified in class 536, subclass 24.1.

IB. Claim 85, drawn to a primer pair, classified in class 536, subclass 24.33.

5. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons: Inventions IA and IB are directed to related products. The related inventions are distinct if the (1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the inventions as claimed differ materially in mode of operation, function and effect. For example, the nucleic acids of invention IA function in, e.g., hybridization and expression assays, while the primer pairs of Invention IB function in amplification and result in the production of amplification products. Furthermore, the inventions as claimed do not encompass overlapping subject matter and there is nothing of record to show them to be obvious variants. Additionally, the Inventions differ with regard to structure, as Invention IA is drawn to individual nucleic acids, while Invention IB requires particular molecule combinations. In accordance with the policy set forth in 1316 OG 122 (27 March 2007), claims directed to nucleic acids are considered for independence, relatedness, distinction and burden as for claims to any other type of molecule. The nucleic acids of Inventions IA and IB differ with regard to both sequence/structure and functional characteristics as compared to each other. Further, Inventions IA and IB require different sequence and text searches, and are separately classified.

6. Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;

Art Unit: 1634

(c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);

(d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;

(e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Art Unit: 1634

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

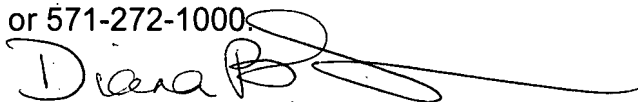

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

8. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Diana B. Johannsen whose telephone number is 571/272-0744. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday and Thursday, 7:30 am-4:00 pm.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Ram Shukla can be reached at 571/272-0735. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
